Foreword

The Inspector General Reform Act of 2008 brought 69 individual Federal Inspectors General (IGs) and 6 integrity-related senior officials together as a community to form the Council of the Inspectors General on Integrity and Efficiency (CIGIE or the Council). In October 2010, Congress added 4 IGs from the intelligence community, thereby expanding the Council’s membership to include this important oversight sector. We are pleased to report that the Council and its member organizations function as a robust oversight community engaged in issues of nationwide significance.

CIGIE’s mandated missions are to address integrity, economy, and effectiveness issues that transcend individual Government agencies, and to increase the professionalism and effectiveness of the IG workforce. In FY 2010, CIGIE continued to meet these mandates while making major strides in implementing its organizational infrastructure. This year CIGIE secured office space for its staff and hired a full-time, permanent executive director to provide leadership and oversight. Under the executive director’s guidance, CIGIE also developed an Agency Financial Report, which ensures ongoing accountability and transparency in financial and program operations. CIGIE has also selected an executive director for training and is committed to hiring a director for each of CIGIE’s major training areas: audit, inspections and evaluations; investigations; and leadership/mission support. In this report, we discuss CIGIE’s FY 2010 accomplishments in carrying out its mission while establishing the infrastructure to support its existence as an independent Federal agency.

First, in IG History, we summarize the Council’s history and some of the accomplishments achieved by CIGIE’s standing committees in FY 2010. Then, in Strategic Plan Business Goal Accomplishments, we describe CIGIE’s accomplishments under its three major strategic business goals. Following this, we summarize current issues of concern to CIGIE members in Key Legislation Affecting the IG Community and Shared Management and Performance Challenges. We then offer perspective on IG Community Accomplishments and provide Contact Information for CIGIE Members. Last, we recognize the recipients of the most noteworthy 2010 CIGIE Awards.

CIGIE’s evolution into an important supporting institution for its members has been strengthened by the efforts of leaders in the IG community, colleagues in the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), Congress, the Government Accountability Office (GAO), other Federal agencies, law enforcement and professional organizations, and private-sector supporters who share a dedication to helping improve Government programs. We appreciate their continuing support and interest in our work.

Most especially, our thanks go to those professionals who make up the IG community—the more than 12,600 members of the OIG workforce whose efforts improve economy, efficiency, and effectiveness throughout the Federal Government.

IG History

Background

The Inspector General Act of 1978 as amended (IG Act) consolidated the audit and investigative functions initially in 12 Cabinet-level agencies under their respective IGs. The IGs became independent forces for promoting economy, efficiency, and effectiveness, while preventing and detecting fraud, waste, and abuse in their agencies’ programs. The IG Act established a dual reporting responsibility, whereby IGs report both to the head of their respective agencies and to Congress. The IGs’ semiannual reports to Congress, which summarize OIGs’ most noteworthy recent activity and management action on significant IG recommendations, are examples of this reporting responsibility, as are the testimonies on various matters that IGs provide to Congress. This unique relationship provides the legislative safety net that protects IG independence and objectivity.

After the passage of the IG Act, OIGs made an impact in those early years by helping agencies repair serious and widespread internal control weaknesses. Recognizing OIGs’ effectiveness, Congress expanded the IG concept beyond the original 12 agencies. The 1988 amendments established IGs in most agencies of the Federal Government and in certain independent agencies, corporations, and other Federal entities. Subsequent legislation has established IGs to oversee specific initiatives (e.g., reconstruction efforts in Iraq and Afghanistan, financial institution reform, and the mortgage industry).

Today, CIGIE has 73 IG members that provide audit and investigative oversight to agencies across the Government and seek to prevent problems before they materialize. Most IGs are either nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate or appointed by their respective agency head. They are selected without regard to political affiliation and solely on the basis of personal integrity and professional expertise.

In 1981, President Ronald Reagan, by Executive Order 12301, created the President’s Council on Integrity and Efficiency (PCIE) to provide a forum for the presidentially-appointed, Senate-confirmed IGs, to coordinate their professional activities. In May 1992, President George H. W. Bush’s Executive Order 12805 created the Executive Council on Integrity and Efficiency (ECIE) for agency-appointed IGs to work together. Both councils were chaired by OMB’s Deputy Director for Management who reported to the President on their activities. Senior officials from other selected agencies were also members of both councils.

The IG Reform Act of 2008 further strengthened IG independence, enhanced IG operations, and created a significant milestone in IG history by combining the two former IG councils, PCIE and ECIE, into one—CIGIE.
On October 14, 2008, the IG Reform Act of 2008 established CIGIE as the unified council of all statutory IGs to provide Governmentwide coordination of, and focus on, OIG activities. CIGIE consists of 73 Federal IGs from both the Executive and Legislative branches, and 6 other Federal leaders:

- Deputy Director for Management (DDM), OMB;
- Deputy Director, Office of Personnel Management;
- Special Counsel, Office of the Special Counsel;
- Assistant Director of the Criminal Investigative Division, Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI);
- Director, Office of Government Ethics; and
- Controller of the Office of Federal Financial Management, OMB.

The Honorable Jeffrey Zients, DDM, OMB, is CIGIE’s Executive Chairperson.

CIGIE is led by its elected Chairperson, Phyllis K. Fong, IG, U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA); its Vice Chairperson, Carl A. Clinefelter, IG, Farm Credit Administration; and the members of the Executive Council (see Table 1 below).

CIGIE’s Executive Council provides corporate leadership, collaborative vision, and long-term planning for the IG community.

The IG Reform Act also established an Integrity Committee whose chair, by law, is the CIGIE member who represents the FBI. The Integrity Committee serves a vital role as an independent investigative mechanism for allegations of IG misconduct, which it reviews and refers for investigation when warranted.

The Council’s charter provides for six standing committees representing major OIG functions (audit, investigation, and inspection and evaluation) and areas of mutual concern (professional development, information technology, and legislation).

Strategic Plan Business Goal Accomplishments

On February 17, 2009, CIGIE’s Executive Council and its full membership approved a strategic plan to guide CIGIE’s activities for 2 years by establishing three major business goals, supporting objectives, and performance measures. As detailed below, CIGIE’s FY 2010 accomplishments have been successful in achieving these goals.

Goal 1

Contribute to improvements in program integrity, efficiency, and cost-effectiveness Government-wide by providing cross-agency analyses to mitigate vulnerabilities that confront multiple Federal programs and entities.

To achieve this goal in FY 2010, CIGIE published three studies that identified and shared cross-agency best practices, and that have been disseminated to the IG community and made publicly available on its website (http://www.ignet.gov).

This report gathered and shared the most effective preventive measures each IG took to safeguard Recovery Act funds so that the community as a whole could focus oversight resources where they would do the most good. In addition to offering proven best practices, such as evaluating spending plans and conducting risk assessments, the report highlighted other demonstrated successes, such as setting up dedicated Recovery Act oversight units and training external stakeholders in fraud prevention techniques.

The next two studies worked to standardize IG procedures throughout the Government in order to enhance efficiency and effectiveness.

In August 2010, An IG’s Guide for Assessing Federal Response Capabilities enhanced CIGIE members’ emergency management oversight capabilities by providing suggested procedures to assess how well their host Departments were prepared to carry out their respective emergency response functions. By establishing common review guidelines, the study helps provide for shared effectiveness in emergency support functions that are currently allotted to 12 Federal departments. This approach to a common review process brings heightened assurance in the Government’s response during a natural disaster.
In October 2010, CIGIE published Recommended Best Practices for Office of Inspector General Hotlines. This study identified each IG’s most effective policies, procedures, and staff training, and suggested recommended practices to enhance the operations of OIG Hotlines. In particular, the report should help OIGs elicit information from complainants efficiently in order to determine their legitimacy and relevance so resources can be efficiently focused where they are most needed.

Goal 2

Increase the professionalism and effectiveness of the IG community workforce.

In FY 2010, CIGIE continued to provide leadership and management courses that were well received by the IG community. The courses were designed both to sharpen experienced managers’ skills and to equip new and future leaders with the vital tools they need to become effective public administrators. Drawing from historical lessons learned as well as current technological advances, 14 courses were attended by 280 OIG professionals from 29 OIGs.

In FY 2010, CIGIE also organized 6 introductory audit courses for 120 entering auditors from OIGs throughout the Government. These 2-week courses offered instruction on topics ranging from government accounting standards to writing skills. The courses provided both a unified training structure for the IG community and a cost-effective means to prepare new staff for their professional responsibilities. The success of these courses has led to a decision to offer at least 6 more sessions in FY 2011.

CIGIE is also responsible for providing training so that the investigator workforce acquires and strengthens its skill set. To accomplish this, in FY 2010, the IG Criminal Investigator Academy delivered basic and refresher training courses along with more specialized instruction, such as the Public Corruption Investigations Training Program. In total, the academy taught 620 students representing nearly every Federal OIG, in addition to agents from State and local entities.

IGs throughout the community worked together to deliver educational opportunities by instructing, meeting personally with classes, and contributing administrative staff and instructors.

In FY 2010, CIGIE has also taken steps to staff the leadership for a full-time training institute. Under the guidance of a newly hired executive director for training, CIGIE will have a separate staff member responsible for ensuring excellence in each major IG training area: audit, inspection and evaluation; investigation; and mission support and leadership.

In the future, CIGIE plans to make training widely available and synchronized with the professional needs of its member organizations by creating a variety of courses including instructor led, web-based, and blended learning courses. CIGIE’s goal is to create a gateway to responsive, high-quality, cost effective, state-of-the-art, specialized training that can satisfy the IG community’s needs today and in the future.
In FY 2010, CIGIE made major strides toward implementing its organizational and staffing infrastructure, such as:

- Transitioning from staff detailed to CIGIE to hiring a full-time, permanent Executive Director.
- Hiring a Training Institute Executive Director to oversee all facets of CIGIE training for the IG community.
- Committing to hire a manager for each of CIGIE’s major training areas: audit, inspections and evaluations; investigations; and mission support and leadership.
- Developing an audited Agency Financial Report, which ensures accountability and transparency in CIGIE’s ongoing financial and program operations.
- Securing permanent office space.

While progressing towards becoming fully operational, CIGIE continued to meet its statutory responsibilities, including:

- Coordinating OIG activities Governmentwide to identify and produce cross-cutting studies that mitigate common vulnerabilities and increase economy, efficiency, and effectiveness (Goal 1).
- Increasing the professionalism and effectiveness of personnel by developing policies, standards, and approaches to aid in establishing a well-trained and highly-skilled IG workforce (Goal 2).
- Responding to inquiries from the public about CIGIE and IG activities, including complaints and allegations against IGs.
- Administering peer review programs that assess OIG compliance with professional standards.
- Recommending individuals to the appointing authority when IG vacancies occur.

In support of these responsibilities, CIGIE also:

- Prepares and publishes the IG community’s annual Progress Report to the President to summarize accomplishments during the fiscal year.
- Maintains CIGIE’s website, http://www.ignet.gov, which serves as a central portal for the public to access Federal OIGs, as well as CIGIE publications and information.
- Plans and coordinates CIGIE activities, such as the annual awards ceremony to honor OIG achievements, the annual IG conference, and the semiannual publication of The Journal of Public Inquiry.

Looking forward, FY 2011 promises to be another productive year. CIGIE’s annual plan for FY 2011 was approved by its members to further the common mission, vision, and goals articulated by the IG community. The plan includes cross-agency projects such as analyzing the legislative and compliance framework for Federal financial management, developing guidance for using new social media tools, and identifying proactive measures IGs can take to protect against cyber-attacks.
Key Legislation Affecting the IG Community

During FY 2010, major legislative initiatives that affected CIGIE members were in various stages of Congressional consideration. CIGIE’s Legislation Committee took the lead in surveying the IG community to determine the most appropriate stance to guide discussions with Congressional staff about the proposed laws. In addition to keeping Congress and CIGIE membership mutually informed, CIGIE took proactive steps to recommend legislative enhancements in relation to IGs’ concerns.

For example, CIGIE has proposed a comprehensive set of technical amendments to the IG Act, which have been included in a House proposal. Among other elements, the amendments will codify provisions of the IG Act, such as authorizing CIGIE’s Integrity Committee to consider allegations against the Special Counsel and Deputy Special Counsel, and allowing all OIGs to fund or participate in CIGIE activities.

Also under Congressional consideration are proposals exempting IGs from obtaining prior approval to collect information under the Paperwork Reduction Act and to match Federal computer records to non-Federal records as required under the Privacy Act. Together, these exemptions should help OIGs to conduct timely audits, investigations, and inspections in addition to identifying improper payments and fraud more efficiently.

Congress is also contemplating providing IGs with the authority to subpoena testimony. Various pending legislation proposals would provide such authority to the financial agency IGs, executive branch IGs, or all IGs. In accordance with the views of its membership, CIGIE has adopted a neutral stance on this issue and has communicated this position to Congress.
A Progress Report to the President

Fiscal Year 2010

Each year, IGs identify and report top management and performance challenges facing their individual agencies pursuant to the Reports Consolidation Act of 2000. These challenges focus on high-risk activities and performance issues that affect agency operations or strategic goals. A comparison of these agency-specific challenges indicates that there are certain top management challenges that many Federal agencies share. These are listed in bold below.

The effectiveness of the Federal Government’s more than 10,000 information systems is crucial to the integrity and efficiency of program operations, so OIGs have identified Information Technology Management and Security as a top management challenge for most Federal agencies. IGs also agree that Financial Management and Performance challenges exist Governmentwide as agencies seek to provide timely, accurate, and useful financial information while integrating budget information with results-oriented and cost-effective performance management. Financial and program integrity are also central to Federal agencies’ continuing commitment to safeguarding the integrity of Federal Expenditures and Operations under the 2009 Recovery Act in order to ensure that the $787 billion in funding that Federal agencies received under the Act is disbursed for activities that help the Nation’s economy recover.

Human Capital Management is a performance challenge that concerns the entire Government as agencies seek to hire, train, and retain a competent and motivated workforce. In addition, because procurement and grants historically have been subject to fraud and waste throughout the Government, effective Procurement and Grants Management continues to be a challenge facing many agencies. Obtaining and effectively using reliable Performance Management and Accountability data has also been identified by OIGs as critical to making informed decisions and achieving the maximum public benefit.

Shared Management and Performance Challenges
IG Community Accomplishments

Together, CIGIE’s member OIGs achieved considerable cost savings for programs Governmentwide in FY 2010. OIG audits, investigations, inspections, and evaluations helped Federal agency managers strengthen program integrity and use funds more effectively and efficiently. Over the years, OIGs have compiled statistics to measure these accomplishments quantitatively as presented in the following tables.

Audit-Related Accomplishments

OIG audit reports generally provide agency management with recommendations on ways to improve their operations. These recommendations include enhancing management practices and procedures, offering ways to better use agency funds, and questioning actual expenditures. Agency management either agrees or disagrees, in whole or in part, with these recommendations. Many recommendations are qualitative and do not specify quantitative savings. However, other recommendations are quantitative and associated dollar amounts can be captured from year to year. Section 5 of the IG
Act establishes a uniform set of statistical categories under which OIGs must report the quantitative results of their audit activities.

The categories used in the next two tables correspond to the IG Act’s reporting requirements. The total accomplishments also include results associated with audits performed by the Defense Contract Audit Agency (DCAA) under agreements with OIGs and agencies. Due to reporting processes, the results of audits performed by DCAA and corresponding management decisions may be reported by more than one OIG.

Investigation-Related Accomplishments

The categories used below reflect the broad range of accomplishments generated by OIG investigative components. Unlike the specific reporting categories for audit reports, the IG Act did not create a uniform system for reporting the results of investigative activities. Over the years, OIGs have developed a relatively uniform set of performance indicators for their semiannual reports that include most of the data presented in this section.

Investigative work often involves several law enforcement agencies working on the same case. OIGs may conduct cases with other OIGs, other Federal law enforcement agencies, and State or local law enforcement entities. The investigative statistics below have been compiled using a methodology that attempts to eliminate duplicate reporting by multiple OIGs. As a result, these consolidated statistics differ from the collective totals for the equivalent categories in individual OIG semiannual reports. The joint OIG investigations statistics include investigations that were worked on with other Federal OIGs.

Investigative Receivables and Recoveries reflect the results of criminal and civil cases that were ordered plus any voluntary repayments during the fiscal year. In criminal cases, the dollar value reflects the restitution, criminal fines, and special assessments resulting from successful criminal prosecutions. The dollar value in civil cases reflects the amount of damages, penalties, settlements, and forfeitures resulting from successful civil actions. Voluntary repayments include the amount paid by the subject of an investigation, or the value of government property recovered before prosecutorial action is taken. We note that these totals do not reflect the dollar amounts associated with recovered items, such as original historical documents and cultural artifacts, whose value cannot be readily determined.

Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 Results at a Glance

Federal Offices of Inspector General (OIGs) promote economy, efficiency, and effectiveness in Government operations and help detect and deter fraud, waste, abuse, and mismanagement.

In FY 2010, more than 12,600 employees at 99 OIGs conducted audits, inspections, evaluations, and investigations. Together, the work of the OIG community resulted in significant improvements to the economy and efficiency of programs Governmentwide, with potential savings totaling $87.2 billion. This includes:

Recipients of the 2010 Annual CIGIE Awards

On October 19, 2010, the IG community held its annual awards ceremony and recognized individuals and groups for their achievements and excellence over the preceding year. In addition to acknowledging a cross-section of OIG personnel, many of these awards recognized individuals from outside the IG community who collaborated with OIGs to promote efficiency and effectiveness and to ensure integrity in Federal programs and operations.

Listed below are featured awards bestowed by the Executive Council.

The Alexander Hamilton Award, which recognizes achievements in improving the integrity, efficiency, or effectiveness of Executive Branch agency operations, was presented to:

- Afghanistan Security Forces Fund Audit Team, Department of Defense OIG, in recognition of exceptional performance in a series of audits to determine whether the Afghanistan Security Forces Fund was properly accounted for and whether goods and services purchased with the fund were delivered properly to the security forces.

The Gaston L. Grimm, Jr., Better Government Award, which is open to those who contribute to the ideals of the IG Act and recognizes actions that improve the public’s confidence in government, was presented to:
