

Robert M. Mages, Historian
U.S. Army Center of Military History

Mr. Robert Mages is a historian with the U.S. Army Center of Military History. He currently executes the Center's End of Tour Program, interviewing departing senior officers and civilians assigned to the Army Staff principals, Army Secretariat, and the offices of the Chief and Vice Chiefs of Staff.

Formerly, Mr. Mages was the Chief of the Oral History Branch at the Military History Institute at Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania, where he also served on the staff and faculty of the U.S. Army War College.

Mr. Mages earned an MA in European History from Washington State University and a BA at Providence College. He is the author of several articles to include "Without the Need of a Single American Rifleman: James Van Fleet and His Lessons Learned as Commander of the Military Advisory Group During the Greek Civil War, 1948-1949," and many published oral histories and debriefings.